To the Director,

"Criminal Investigation Department",

Shanghai Municipal Council.

Dear Sir,

Being tired of leading an idle social life and as am ambitious for a detective career, therefore, am willing to offer my service free as "female searcher". I do not want to receive any salary, as am one of those fortunate few who does not have to earn my own living, as my parents are wealthy enough to support me.

Hoping to receive a favourable reply at your convenience,

I remain,

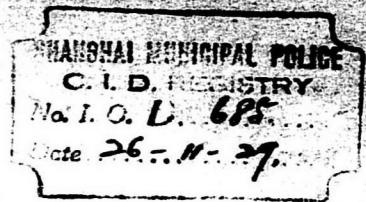

Dear Sir,

Your obedient servant,

Miss. L. Langster

File No.

Crim. No. 171

Sir,

With reference to that attached letter of October 1, 1929 from Miss L. Sangster, inquiries show that she is the daughter of Charles Sangster, a British subject, employed as a barfinder by Messrs Robinson, Mackenzie & Co. for P & C shirts. Miss Sangster in appearance is more Chinese than anything else and was educated at the Institution of the Holy Family in Shanghai (now in Quinson Road) which she left three years ago since which time she has been unemployed. She speaks the Shanghai and Sochow dialects fluently and has an excellent knowledge of written and spoken English.

Miss Sangster seems to have no special qualifications for the position of a "female police-scriber" unless perhaps her knowledge of English. She appears to be somewhat single. Attached is a letter from this office by her in response to a request for references.
